Payment Holiday

New Lending & Product Switches

- Where a customer requests any additional lending or a fundamental change to product, this will not be considered until they have completed their payment holiday and made at least two subsequent payments in full after the holiday expired
- If a customer does not wish to wait until the end of the agreed payment holiday and are only part way through, they will need to cancel the payment holiday and make up any payments that have been deferred before we can consider any additional lending
- They must also evidence sustainability of income during the holiday period via bank statements/up to date proof of income. Until this is provided, we cannot proceed or consider an application
- Where a customer is requesting both additional lending and a payment holiday, they will need to select one of these options only – not both

If the client has requested a payment holiday from another lender, we can still consider lending to them if we are satisfied with their reasons for needing the payment holiday and the below requirements are met:-

- Clear CAIS/Insight data confirming no late payments and that the accounts have been performing as agreed with the current lender
- If a payment holiday with another lender is in place, or has been previously, we will not require them to make up payments to the other lender
- If there were any receipt of rentals during the payment holiday, we would require bank statements to support the build-up of cash reserves and evidence acceptable levels of voids. We understand that clients entered into payment holidays for various reasons in order to support their property portfolio
- Standard portfolio assessment / stressing via eTech and due diligence needs to meet our standard criteria
- Where other lenders are incorrectly reporting arrears on genuine holiday payments, we will need evidence of the error and that the customer is in an agreed payment holiday. The evidence must be supplied from the lender to confirm this.
